ELECTION

Should non-citizens be allowed to vote?

AMBER MCDOWN
Minden Press-Herald

The Congressional General Election is rapidly approaching and will be held on December 10, 2022. In this election, there will be three runoff elections in Webster Parish plus three proposed constitutional amendments including one which addresses whether or not a person needs to be a US citizen in order to vote in Louisiana.

Amendment No. 1 asks, "Do you support an amendment to provide that no person who is not a citizen of the United States shall be allowed to register and vote in this state?" A vote of "yes" on this amendment means that you believe those who are not US citizens should not be allowed to register to vote and then vote in Louisiana. A vote of "no" on this amendment means that you believe that people who are not US citizens should be allowed to register to vote and then vote in Louisiana.

Amendment No. 2 asks, "Do you support an amendment to make appointed members of the State Civil Service Commission subject to confirmation by the Louisiana Senate?"

As it currently stands, State Civil Service Commission members are appointed by the governor from a group of nominees that were selected by the presidents of six specific colleges/universities in Louisiana — each president selects three nominees to enter the pool from which the governor selects. The new amendment proposes that whoever the governor appoints from this pool must also be approved by the Louisiana Senate. A vote of "yes" on this amendment means that you believe that the governor's appointment for this position should also be required to be approved by the senate. A vote of "no" on this amendment means that the governor can still appoint a person from this pool of nominees without needing approval from the senate.

Amendment No. 3 asks, "Do you support an amendment to make appointed members of the State Police Commission subject to confirmation by the Louisiana Senate?" This is essentially the same change as proposed amendment no. 2, but for the State Police Commission rather than the State Civil Service. The presidents of the same six colleges/universities provide three nominees each for the position. This amendment requests that whoever the governor selects from the pool must also be approved by the senate. A vote of "yes" means that you believe that the nominee must be approved by the senate. A vote of "no" means that you believe that the governor should be able to appoint someone from that pool of nominees without requiring approval by the senate.

Runoffs occur when one candidate does not get at least 50% plus 1 vote. In the event of a runoff, the top two candidates run against each other.

In Springhill, there will be a runoff for mayor. In the November 8 election, Ray Huddleston received 47% of the votes with 683 votes, and Ronnie Hearnberger received 34% of the votes with 494 votes.

In Minden, there will be runoffs for two city council positions: District A and District C.

In District A, Wayne Edwards received 47% of the votes with 336 votes, and Buddy Myles received 41% of the votes with 297 votes.

In District C, Vincen "Cheese" Bradford received 46% of the votes with 279 votes, and Latasha Mitchell received 25% of the votes with 153 votes.

Early voting is available through December 3 from 8:30 a.m. until 6 p.m. You may still request an absentee ballot until December 6 by 4:30 p.m. Absentee ballots must be received by December 9 until 4:30 p.m.

On December 10, 2022, the polls will be open from 7 a.m. until 8 p.m.

School board names Angel Lee employee of the month

AMBER MCDOWN
Minden Press-Herald

Angel Lee, a chemistry teacher at Minden High School, was named Employee of the Month at the November meeting of the Webster Parish School Board. The award was presented by Scott Walker of Taylor and Sons, and her nomination letter read as follows:

“It is my great pleasure to write this nomination for Minden High School teacher Angel Lee to be considered for Employee of the Month. Angel has served as a biology and chemistry teacher for our district for over 25 years, and she is a proud Minden High School alum.

“Ms. Lee is the type of teacher who truly uses her role as an opportunity to positively influence the lives of the students she serves. It is way more to her than just a job. It is truly a calling and something she has committed her life to in a big, big way.

“And her legacy at Minden High shows that. She is an advocate for young people and believes that adolescents can make a positive impact now. She strives to promote them in a way where others can see them as well as focusing on the good rather than the negative the world often sees today.

“Ms. Lee has served Minden High School in many, many ways during her time there. She has been the student council sponsor for a long time and spends countless hours cultivating leadership skills with her students so they can become the next generation to make a positive difference in our community. You can often find her after hours working on multiple community-service projects with them including organizing St. Jude activities, Joe LaBlanc food bank service, student council faculty buddies, homecoming activities, and working with them at district and state levels with the Louisiana Association of Student Councils.

“She prides herself on being a teacher, and it is something she is passionate about. You can ask the students that she has taught throughout the years and, I think it is safe to say, they would summarize Ms. Lee as one of the hardest working, kindest, and selfless ladies they have ever had as a teacher - who truly loved them and wanted to see them grow into their very best. You can find no better recipient of this award in today’s challenging times in education.

Ms. Lee epitomizes what School board meetings held at North Webster Jr High on December 5. we would love all teachers are open to the public, and the next one will be

Civitan Santa requests donations

AMBER MCDOWN
Minden Press-Herald

The annual Toy Project, which is sponsored by the Minden Civitan Club and the Young Women’s Service Club, is continuing. Each year these groups collect and distribute toys to needy children in the Minden - South Webster Parish area. Members of the Minden Police Department and the Webster Parish Sheriff’s Office deliver the toys just before Christmas.

Last year this program provided toys for over 450 children in over 150 families in the Minden - South Webster area. The Toy Project is possible due to the generosity of local businesses and individuals who donate money plus hundreds of dollars worth of new toys each year.

This year has been difficult financially for many people, and the sponsors ask you to consider making donations to this project. “Without your help, several hundred children will think that no one cares,” said Ed LaBruyere, Toy Chairman of the Minden Civitan club.

The deadline to apply for this program is December 12, 2022. Application forms may be picked up at either the police station or at the Webster Community Action offices.

If you wish to donate money to the program, you can mail checks to the Minden Civitan club, P.O. Box 95, Minden, LA 71058. New toys may be dropped off at the Minden Police Department.

AG appointment of special counsel against Trump is clearly a political vendetta

The decision of Attorney General Merrick Garland a few days ago to appoint a special counsel in the investigations of Donald Trump will provide to millions of Americans only, yet another, example of the highly politicized, weaponized nature of the Department of Justice and the FBI. This assignment specifically includes a probe of both the Mar-a-Lago documents case and whether President Trump “unlawfully interfered with the transfer of power” after the 2020 election or with the Electoral College vote count. Garland’s announcement of the special counsel states: “based on recent developments, including the former president’s announcement that he is a candidate for president in the next election, and the sitting president’s stated intention to be a candidate as well, I have concluded that it is in the public interest to appoint a special counsel.” He closed by contending that “such an appointment underscores the Department’s commitment to both independence and accountability in particularly sensitive matters.” Unsurprisingly, a spokesman for Pres. Trump immediately responded, “this is a totally expected political stunt by a feckless, politicized, weaponized Biden Department of Justice.” The Trump statement continued by pointing out that “Robert Mueller, the Russia collusion special counsel, staffed his investigation with partisan Democrats and his probe turned into a debacle.”As though Jan. 6th has not been investigated enough. As though the documents at Mar A Lago contained any “secrets” when it’s the president himself who decides what’s classified or unclassified; regardless, when there is a dispute regarding presidential documents it is resolved between the former president’s attorneys and government attorneys. At the very most a subpoena can be issued. However, right on the heels of President Trump announcing his candidacy for the presidency, we have the Biden Administration’s politically compromised Attorney General Garland, announcing the appointment of a special counsel. It is both naïve and nonsensical to assume the attorney general is not coordinating with the Biden White House about this. It’s all politically motivated because the Biden Administration and its highly politicized Department of Justice fear a second Trump presidency. Nothing else. Are we really supposed to be this stupid or naive? The Jan. 6th investigation has been going on for nearly two years—including lengthy hearings and an impeachment effort—while the Mar-a-Lago investigation has been going on for close to a year. However, as soon as President Trump announces he’s running for president this all fires up? Does the appointment of a special counsel even matter anyway, given the special counsel reports to AG Garland and AG Garland reports to President Biden. But let’s recall: only now, supposedly, the Department of Justice and the FBI—which covered up and held on to the Hunter Biden laptop for some two years—is taking any steps to investigate or prosecute the laptop or the Biden crime family generally. There clearly exists in the public record substantial incriminating evidence to do so. In fact, much of the damaging information contained in those emails has already been corroborated. Recall that Big Tech, including Facebook, Twitter and many other Left leaning social media platforms successfully suppressed and censored the Hunter Biden laptop story just before the 2020 election. Following the election, a full 16% of voters polled stated that they would not have voted for Joe Biden had they known prior to the election of the information contained on the laptop. The very reason it was censored! And so, the voice of the people was silenced and the trajectory of American history was forever changed. As the Wall Street Journal notes, “the prosecution of a former President, especially one running against Mr. Biden, had better be for serious offenses. The evidence should be so compelling that it persuades fair-minded Republicans, not merely MSNBC or CNN anchors.” We simply don’t have that context here and this latest so-called “investigation” of President Trump is, therefore, undermined and compromised from the start. So will be any judgment it renders. As Senator Ted Cruz (R-TX) noted, “this is Trump derangement syndrome but this time with a gun and badge.” All Americans should be fearful of the totalitarian state that America is in the process of becoming.

If we aren’t thankful what else is there?

If we aren’t thankful for what we possess what else is there? What good does it do to have the best of everything if we are discontented? Having being diagnosed with post traumatic stress disorder, along with my sister Alice, due to having grown up in an orphanage, perhaps we are a little more grateful than some of our peers. Maybe it takes emotional storms, of having the rugs jerked out from under our feet, to truly understand the trauma of hurting. Having stood on the edge of homelessness as a child and an adult, God has always stepped out of the woodwork to help me! The older I get the more grateful I am for all that I possess! If we have friends and family, a roof over our head, enough to eat and some left over, clothes to wear to keep out the cold and a few pieces to bolster our self-esteem, we are blessed beyond measure!

It’s not how much we possess but what possesses us! “Things can end up owning us” rather than being things that we own! Years ago most of our ancestors had plenty to eat as they prepared for the winter by preserving food and chopping fire wood. The father made sure his family was fed and kept warm during the winter. Survival wasn’t easy as some of our parents plowed behind mules just to keep us fed. Older people often reminisce how they seemed to have more time to enjoy the family, often spending time on the front porch talking to neighbors rather than watching television. Today it seems that we are too busy struggling just to stay ahead of the “Jones,” to have lost the essence of happiness, the quality of life that is embellished in The Little House On The Prairie. But how do we go back once we’ve crossed the picket line? How do we reset our values? How do we restore the family to its rightful place? “Sometimes less is more.” The more we get ahead we are often more emotionally starved than our ancestors were in the days of long ago. Here I am telling one of my stories, which rings home to me. I sense that the family has gone down the tube with all of the modern devices and social media, not to mention the fast food places where even the teenagers grab their meals rather than sitting around the dinner table. Someone told me “you can’t schedule quality time. It has to just happen spontaneously.” I am curious about all of the reality shows that are on television today including Duck Dynasty, Nineteen Kids and Counting and The Alaskan Bush People. I believe that our nation is hungry for a return to the olden days, to God and family. We innately believe that God is real and that this life is not forever. We are just “sojourners” on this earth. With all of this said I continue to be so grateful for friends and family who have supported me, who have been placed in my life to protect me from disaster. God has always pulled me through the tight places in my life. I know that He always will because Jesus is the same yesterday, today and forever and He always gets me to the right place at the right time. For this I am thankful all year!

WSJ: Eastman’s proposal was more than just bad, it was awful

In the lead-up to the Jan. 6 riot, John Eastman gave President Trump legal advice that was terrible, and now he’s trying to argue it was merely awful. In a letter to these pages on Nov. 14, Mr. Eastman, a former law professor of some distinction, denies he argued that Vice President Mike Pence “could unilaterally reject electoral votes and simply declare President Trump re-elected.” Mr. Eastman claims he made only a modest proposal, Swiftian allusion intended: “The advice I gave to then-Vice President Pence was that he accede to requests from hundreds of state lawmakers to delay proceedings for a short time so that they could assess the effect of illegalities on the conduct of the election.” Mr. Eastman specifically refers to a conversation during an Oval Office meeting on Jan. 4, 2021. But his position is contradicted by the sworn testimony of Mr. Pence’s legal counsel, Greg Jacob. According to Mr. Jacob, Mr. Eastman argued at the Jan. 4 meeting that it would, in fact, be “legally viable” for the VP to reject electors. Mr. Eastman advised against this plan only because it would be “less politically palatable.” That concession apparently didn’t last. The debate was renewed the next morning, Jan. 5. “When Mr. Eastman came in,” Mr. Jacob testified, “he said, I’m here to request that you reject the electors. So on the 4th, that had been the path that he had said, I’m not recommending that you do that. But on the 5th, he came in and expressly requested that.” A piece of Mr. Jacob’s handwritten notes is in the public record. The top reads: “John Eastman meeting 1/5/21.” Then: “Requesting VP reject.” There also are the two memos Mr. Eastman produced in advance of Jan. 6, which circulated among Mr. Trump’s advisers. “Here’s the scenario we propose,” the first one says. The VP “announces that because of the ongoing disputes,” seven states have “no electors that can be deemed validly appointed,” and “Pence then gavel[s] President Trump as re-elected.” The second memo offers a menu of options. One is for Mr. Pence to outright reject electors. A final thing to point out is that the argument in Mr. Eastman’s letter isn’t a defense. It’s more like a plea bargain to a lesser transgression against the American republic. Asking Mr. Pence to reverse the 2020 election directly was appalling. Asking the VP to stall the Electoral College, so that state legislatures could reverse the 2020 election, was also appalling. Suppose Mr. Pence had tried to delay. The result would have been a constitutional crisis. Federal law sets the time for choosing presidential electors, and it’s Election Day in November. Mr. Trump wanted state lawmakers to overrule the will of the voters two months later, and two weeks before the scheduled transfer of power, despite no proof of widespread voter fraud. Doing this could have led to violence. Also, the 12th Amendment says the Electoral College shall be tallied “in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives.” Democrats controlled the House. Speaker Nancy Pelosi would not have permitted any joint session to reconvene and tally those phony electors. With no Electoral College count by noon on Jan. 20, who’s next in line to become President? The Speaker of the House. Or perhaps the Supreme Court would have intervened.

Apaches go down fighting for win

Glenbrook falls 28-27 in OCS in quarterfinals after failed 2-point try

T. SCOTT BOATRIGHT
Minden Press-Herald

MONROE — The state’s longest win streak versus a team undefeated at home after naming the field in honor of its current head coach. Something had to give.

And in a hard-fought game of give and take between undefeated Glenbrook against top-seeded Ouachita Christian at the Eagle’s Nest, OCS escaped with a 28-27 win Friday night to move on to the Division IV Select School Semifinals.

Escaped as in “dodging and taking down a bullet” fired by the Apaches, who went for the two-point conversion and the probable win as opposed to playing for overtime after scoring the game’s final touchdown with 1:07 remaining.

And as the smoke cleared in this north Louisiana shootout, the Apaches’ win streak had been stopped at 17 while OCS remained undefeated on Steven Fitzhugh Field after playing 29 games there. OCS led 14-0 at half-time. But the score could have easily been tied.

The Eagles led 7-0 at the end of the first quarter and stretched that advantage to 14-0 when Zach White burst through the Glenbrook defense on an eight-yard scoring scamper with 8:31 remaining in the first half.

But the Apaches had two drives that could have led to potential second quarter scores — before a pair of fumbles turned the ball back over to the Eagles at the OCS 12-yard line (at the 7:07 mark of the second quarter) after getting down to the OCS 5) and the Ouachita Christian 3-yard line with seconds in the first half.

Glenbrook’s offense rolled again in the third quarter, but this time without turning the ball over.

Turner McClelland hauled in a six-yard touchdown pass from Ty Feaster to cut the OCS advantage to seven points with 6:54 left in the third quarter before the Apaches went for and recovered an onsidess kick to take right back over at the OCS 47.

That led to a 44-reception by McClelland helping to set up a two-yard plunge to paydirt by Maddox Mandino late in the third quarter to cut the OCS to 21-14.

Then lightning struck for the Eagles in the form of quarterback Landon Graves’ legs.

Following a third red-

After guiding his team to a 12-1 mark this season, Glenbrook’s David Feaster now has a career coaching record with the Apaches of 32-21, including a 20-3 mark the last two years - the school’s first two seasons as members of the Louisiana High School Athletic Association.

zone fumble — this one at the Eagles’ six-yard line, OCS quarterback Landon Graves exploded on a quarterback draw on the following play for a 94-yard scoring scamper to extend Glenbrook’s deficit to 14 points with 7:00 remaining.

The Apaches quickly countered, with Feaster hitting Chase Sentell for a 58-yard touchdown pass with 5:50 remaining to cut the Eagles’ lead to 28-21.

After stopping an OCS drive, Glenbrook got another shot on offense as the Apaches took over on their own 36 with 2:46 remaining.

A 33-yard pass to Sentell, a five-yarder to Rhett Johnson and a 10-yarder to Mandino set up the Apaches’ touchdown with 1:07 remaining as Feaster fired a 14-yard scoring strike on a slant to McClelland, who had to fight his way through attempted tacklers to get into the end zone.

That’s when Glenbrook tried the two-point conversion run for the hopeful win, only to see it fall inches short.

The Apaches finished with 408 yards of offense while holding OCS to 276.

Feaster, a senior, led that offense with a 27-of-43 passing performance for 381 yards with three touchdowns and one interception.

McClelland hauled in a team-high eight receptions for 101 yards for Glenbrook while Sentell added six catches for a team-best 117 yards and his score.

Glenbrook ends its historic first season as a fully-recognized member of the Louisiana High School Athletic Association at 12-1.

LSU, Tech both suffer big losses

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Riding a five-game winning streak and assured of playing in next week’s Southeastern Conference title game, No. 6 LSU just had to take care of underperforming Texas A&M to keep its College Football Playoff hopes alive.

Instead, Devon Achane had a career-best 215 yards rushing with two touchdowns, and Texas A&M stunned LSU 38-23, all but certainly knocking the Tigers out of contention for the CFP.

“They have done some incredible things and I don’t want this loss to at all take away from what they’ve accomplished this year,” LSU coach Brian Kelly said. “This was not a step back. This was a bump in the road and they’re going to learn from it.”

Conner Weigman threw two TD passes for the Aggies (5-7, 2-6 SEC) and Demani Richardson returned a fumble for a score. The game was tied at 17-all in the third quarter before A&M scored 21 straight points.

“It shows the type of team we can be,” Achane said. “Just showing that it wasn’t the season we wanted but came out to beat a top-(10) team.”

LSU (9-3, 6-2, No. 5 CFP) had already won the SEC

West and secured chance to play for the conference title against unbeaten No. 1 Georgia, and a win there could have put the Tigers in the playoff. But with three losses, even beating the Bulldogs likely won’t be enough.

UAB 37, LA Tech 27
RUSTON (AP) — DeWayne McBride ran for a school-record 272 yards and a touchdown on 16 carries and UAB beat Louisiana Tech on Saturday to become bowl eligible for the seventh consecutive season.

McBride broke the previous record of 262 yards set by Jordan Howard.

The Blazers (6-6, 4-4 Conference USA) broke it open by scoring 17 points in the second quarter for a 17-6 lead at halftime. Twenty points in the second half — three touchdowns, one of which resulted in a failed two-point conversion — made it a 37-20 contest.

UAB amassed 406 yards rushing on 43 carries, reaching the end zone three times. Jermaine Brown Jr. ran for 119 yards on 22 carries and scored twice.

Charvis Thornton led the Bulldogs (3-9, 2-6) with 132 rushing on eight carries with a touchdown.

BOSSIER CITY — Green Oaks grabbed a big lead and never looked back Saturday as the Giants defeated Minden 56-40 in the David Bryant Memorial Classic held at Airline High School.

The Classic is named in honor of David Bryant, an educator and coach in Bossier and Caddo Parishes for 30 years who passed away at the age of 57 in August of last year.

Green Oaks led 20-8 at the end of the first and 32-23 by halftime.

Minden, which stands at 0-5 following the loss to the Giants, was led in scoring by Mijai Batton with 10 points, with eight of those coming in the second half.

Kell Hawk and TJ Grider added eight points each for the Crimson Tide.

Fred Benjamin led Green Oaks (4-1) with 18 points.

Southern surges late to top GSU

NEW ORLEANS — Second-half mistakes can ruin a strong start and result in a loss.

That's what happened Saturday afternoon in the 49th annual Bayou Classic at Ceasar's Superdome, as Grambling State started strong before growing pains and missed opportunities for the Tigers allowed Southern to take control late in a 34-17 win over GSU.

Grambling's defense held Southern, which entered the contest averaging 413.0 total yards per game, to only 12 yards in the first quarter.

But the G-Men, who finished at 3-8 overall and 2-6 in the Southwestern Athletic Conference, missed on a 47-yard field goal attempt 8:40 into the opening stanza.

Grambling grabbed led 7-0 by the end of the first quarter and only trailed 14-10 after a hardfought first half.

But the Tigers' offense failed to get anything going after that and allowed the Jaguars to score 20 unanswered points in the final stanza to earn the big win.

After the Jaguars retook the lead on a 22-yard touchdown run by Besean McCray with 13:30 left on the clock, Southern added two more scores off turnovers — a 48-fumble recovery by Jordan Carter with 7:42 remaining followed by a 42-yard pick six by Kriston Davis with 2:48 left in the fourth quarter.

Grambling ended the game giving up three turnovers (two fumbles and Davis' interception) while also being penalized six times for 66 yards.

"Penalties and turnovers," Jackson said of two of the obstacles his G-Men couldn't overcome. We've had the penalties. We're used to those. But the turnovers, they were magnified — by twice. Twice the ball fell out of the quarterback's hands. I haven't seen that."

Calvez completed 13-of-27 pass attempts for 152 yards, but faced constant pressure in the second half and sacked seven times in the contest.

Jackson said he didn't think adjustments by Southern helped the Jaguars pull away late.

Instead, Jackson felt it was a case of his young Tigers imploding at a crucial point in the game.

"I don't think they saw anything (to adjust to), I think if anything, they just saw a young quarterback," Jackson said. "I think they smelled blood in the water and just kept coming. I think there were chances to make plays there. And we didn't. We'll learn from it. He'll learn from it."

Chalk IV was named Grambling's Player of the Game after rushing eight times for 120 yards while Maurice Washington added 49 yards on six carries.

Ben Dupree — Modern day Renaissance man

GLYNN HARRIS

He operates a successful deer processing business; he is a garbage man; he teaches concealed firearms classes; he is a farmer who sells his produce; he is an award winning author; and he is pastor of his church. And he does all this while being blind. Yes, you read it right; Ben Dupree is functionally blind.

Dupree, 42, is a graduate of Northwestern State University in Natchitoches with a Master's degree in education.

"After college I began work as a teacher, basketball coach and assistant principal. Then I began having these strange problems with my eyes. I had 20-20 vision but I began having difficulty keeping my eyelids open and I sought medical treatment. I was finally diagnosed with a rare condition, Blepharospasm, a condition that forced my eyelids to close," Dupree said. "I go to Shreveport quarterly to have injections around my eyes so they can stay open."

After doing something he was trained for in the education system that he absolutely loved, he was forced to have to give it all up after 10 years because of the diagnosis; he was declared functionally blind.

Kristin, Ben's wife and mother of their two sons, is a registered nurse and the couple was faced with a "what's next?" dilemma.

Trash collecting is only one of Ben Dupree's numerous jobs.

"Kristin encouraged me to do something I had always wanted to do, and that's write a book. So I did and I eventually won an Excellence in Craft award from the Louisiana Outdoor Writers Association. I was a commercial fisherman for awhile, I cut and sold firewood and then I got into deer processing. The first year I processed a few deer for friends, an activity that took place in my wife's kitchen but she thought it best that I find another place to cut up deer and make sausage. My dad helped me construct a building in our backyard and from something that started simply five years ago, K&B Processing is in a fully operational building with concrete floor, drains and a custom trolley system and I expect to process 400 to 500 this season," said Dupree.

Serious health problems forced Kristin to have to give up her job in the nursing profession as a nursing instructor and today, she's at home keeping records and handling book keeping for the family businesses. Sons Reagan, 15 and Michael 12, are home schooled and assist Dupree in his deer processing business and they take turns on Wednesdays helping their dad on the weekly garbage run, which was the next venture he explored.

The idea of developing a garbage collecting system for folks in the community took shape and today, Dupree has 92 customers throughout north Natchitoches Parish, furnishing cans and drum liners with each Wednesday designated as garbage collection day, garbage taken to the landfill in Natchitoches. "I'm the only garbage man I know who has a master's degree," he quipped.

Rev. Jason Womack, pastor of Goldonna Baptist Church was called to pastor a church in another community recently and before he left, he advised Dupree, who is a licensed minister, to expect to be asked to be interim pastor.

"The church did ask me to consider the interim position which Kristin and I prayed about and I felt led to do. Then the church voted, in a unanimous vote, to call me as pastor. I explained that with all the businesses that I operate, they would have to consider me a bi-vocational pastor and they agreed," he said.

He might have had to give up his profession because of his functional blindness but being a renaissance man, he fits the definition of the word exactly ... "a person with many talents or areas of knowledge."

Thanksgiving Prayer of Peter Marshall (1947)

Few remember that Peter Marshall was the Chaplain of the US Senate in the years after WW 2. When the Senate was in session, he would offer a timely prayer each morning. Born in Scotland, his family emigrated to the U S A & became a citizen in 1927. He was pastor -New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, Washington D.C. when he served two terms as Senate Chaplain. As we turn attention toward the ‘all-important focus of being thankful’ perhaps our hearts can be stirred anew by the inspiring words of this respected clergyman!

“Our Father in heaven, if ever we had cause to offer unto Thee our fervent thanks, surely it is now, on, the eve of our Thanksgiving Day, when we, the people of this Nation, are comfortable, well-fed, well-clad, and blessed with good things beyond our deserving. May gratitude, the rarest of all virtues, be the spirit of our observance.

Let not the feasting, football, and festivity end in forgetfulness of God. May the desperate need of the rest of the world, and our own glorious heritage, remind us of the God who led our fathers every step of the way by which they advanced to the character of an independent nation.

O Lord, lift from our hearts all the discouragement, cynicism, and distrust of one another that destroy our faith in the little people who make up this Republic and eat at the very foundations of our democracy. Give to our leaders faith in our way of life, so that, instead of indicting other philosophies, we shall inspire our own. Give them faith in the people, in their deep desire to do whatever is for the good of all, in their willingness to make personal sacrifices for a good cause.

May we have courageous leadership, based on faith and not on fear – leadership that goes out in front and is not forever running to catch up! Increase our faith in Jesus Christ our Lord. Help us to be good men, that we may become good leaders. For this day, before we reach any decisions, make us willing to ask, “What would Jesus do?” Deliver us from the error of seeking and expecting Thy guidance in our public lives while we close the door to Thee in our private living.

We have asked for Thy guidance in difficult decisions many times, yet it has not always come when we thought it should come. Many of the situations and relationships which we have asked Thee to change have remained the same. Forgive us for thinking, therefore, that Thou art unwilling to help us in our dilemmas or that there is nothing Thou canst do.

Remind us, Our Father, that when we plug in an electric iron and it fails to work, we do not conclude that electricity has lost its power, nor do we plead with the iron (to do something). We look at once to the broken or blocked connection with the source of power. May we do the same with ourselves, that Thou mayest work through us to do Thy will? This we ask in Jesus’ name. Amen”

What a prayer to absorb on this Thanksgiving Day, not just for our political leaders, but for each of us – Joe Citizen. Send this to your elected leaders with a personal note pledging your prayer support for them as we all move forward together and seek to heal this land – in the name of Jesus.

Fitted Together in Love

“From Him the whole body, fitted and knit together by every supporting ligament, promotes the growth of the body for building up itself in love by the proper working of each individual part.” Ephesians 4:16 HCSB

Max Hutto

Christ, the Head of the church, unifies and directs the whole body. All believers are joined to one another through Christ. As parts of the body of Christ, the church, all believers are to grow together in love. As one matures in the faith, one is to help other believers to also grow and mature, thus working together to build up the church. It is love, Christ’s love filled with His grace and mercy, that promotes the church and every believer to grow and work properly together.

Lord Jesus, in You I find my place of service in the church. Guide me to help and support other believers in the body, the church.

Top Priority

I sat down and thought about my goals in life and thought about how to accomplish those goals. As I thought one word came to mind “prioritizing”. Everything we do in life requires us to make things a priority and form a hierarchy of needs. So as you read this article I need you to ask yourself two questions. Where does God rank on your hierarchy of needs? Have you made God a priority in your life? Several individuals in the Bible had to answer these questions but the one that stood out to me the most has always been Job. According to Job 1:20, NLT Job stood up and tore his robe in grief. Then he shaved his head and fell to the ground to worship. This all took place after Job lost everything important to him. Job worshiped because he put God first and knew God blessed him with everything he lost and would continue to bless him. So I would like to conclude this article with a challenge. Put God first in everything you do and watch it prosper.

North Webster High School Students Build Playhouse for Fundraiser

SPRINGHILL, La. — Students at North Webster High School are constructing something special. For the third consecutive year, carpentry students are building a playhouse that will be raffled off in December.

The first playhouse was built in 2020. It started when Instructor Savannah Mire was approached by a number of seniors who wanted to do a project, and they decided to build a playhouse. Mire said that it was during the pandemic, and families were struggling. The students decided to build the playhouse and raffle it off for $5 per ticket. The students thought this would give parents a chance to win something nice for their children.

The students built a farmhouse-style playhouse the first year, followed by a barn version in 2021. This year, they built a mercantile building from the Old West.

The money raised through the raffle goes into the school's Future Farmers of America (FFA) fund. This fund pays for student entry fees and travel for FFA events.

Just like other construction jobs, this one has a foreman. Senior Jacob Burnside is in charge of making sure things are done correctly.

"I'm proud to be a part of it," said Burnside. "I think it gets us all together, hands-on. We get to learn a little more and for a great cause."

Instructor Savannah Mire said that this project was a great way to put their classroom lessons into action in a unique manner.

"This is a way that we can put what we're learning in class, instead of building little dog houses or projects," said Mire. "Everyone can get a hand on it, and it's a real-life application: anywhere from subfloor, wall systems, roofing systems and even to laying shingles on the roof."

Tickets for this year's raffle are $10 each. For more information on getting raffle tickets, contact Savannah Mire at callie.mire@websterpsb.org.
